DETAILED ACTION

Opening Remarks

1. For future reference, a request for interview should be made as early as possible with respect to the Period for Response, and precede filing of a formal amendment although it is generally helpful to have a proposed amendment ready for purpose of discussion.

After consideration of the formal amendment filed June 10, 2004, telephone calls were placed to Michael Britton to discuss the Application but did not result in contact until the following week. Since the claims require at least correction of grammar/usage (as detailed below) and careful consideration of such changes on the part of Applicant and Examiner, it is the Examiner's belief that the policy of compact prosecution is best served via formal Office Action on the pending claims.

Claim Objections

2. Claims 1-3 and 14 are objected to because of the following informalities:

Claim 1; line 1 – “to lock” should be replaced with –for locking--.

Claim 1; line 1 - --a—should be inserted before “first”.

Claim 3; line 2 – “an” should be replaced with –the--.

Claim 14 – should be amended to corrected sentence structure.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 1-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

As regards claim 1, it is not clear from lines 1-3 if both first and second elements are capable of being laterally movable and rotatable.

As regards claim 1, it is not clear from lines 3-4 if the base profile is on the first, or first and second door element(s).

As regards claim 1, it is not clear what structure is defined by limitation of "wherein the head-piece projects along the longitudinal axis of the base profile of the second door element or a closing device provided therein". 'As best understood', only a single embodiment is illustrated wherein the "lever with a head-piece and a locking element is retained rotatable" in the lower channel of the base profile of the first and second door element(s) as previously recited in claim 1.

Further regarding claim 2, 'as best understood' the structure that has been disclosed as being required for the recited function is not included in the claim whereby, the scope and meaning of the claim is not clear.

Further regarding claim 14, limitations are directly contrary to positive recitations of structural arrangement of claim 1 whereby it is not clear which arrangement is being claimed. For example, claim 1 implicitly requires base profile on first and second door element(s) and locking element with position in which it engages a receptacle fixed on the floor.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 1-19 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims. The prior art does not teach or make obvious all limitations including laterally movable or laterally movable and rotatable door elements, H-shape cross-section, screw, rotatable locking element, and receptacle fixed to the floor as arranged in the claimed invention.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. Previous objections to the drawings are withdrawn in light of amendment to the claims since the drawings provide sufficient illustration of a doors to be consistent with scope of claim.

Conclusion

7. Since previous Office Action did not consider claims added by Pre-Amendment, this Office Action is not made Final.
